

Priority Two

Safe Neighborhoods, Public Safety & Homelessness

"Every family deserves to feel safe where they live, work, learn, and raise their children."

Why This Matters

Nothing is more important than protecting our families and preserving the quality of life in our neighborhoods.

Public safety is the foundation of every successful community. When residents feel safe, children can play in our parks, families can enjoy community events, seniors can walk their neighborhoods with confidence, and local businesses can thrive.

Safety is more than responding to emergencies—it is creating an environment where people feel secure, respected, and connected to their community.

As someone whose own home has been burglarized, I understand firsthand how crime affects more than property. It leaves families feeling vulnerable and changes the way they view their own neighborhood. That experience reinforced my belief that every resident deserves to feel protected in the community they call home.

Supporting public safety also means supporting the dedicated men and women who protect us every day. Our police officers, firefighters, emergency personnel, and dispatchers serve our community with professionalism and courage. They deserve leadership that values their service, provides them with the resources they need, and works collaboratively to solve problems before they become crises.

At the same time, public safety is not solely the responsibility of law enforcement.

It is a shared responsibility among residents, schools, businesses, neighborhood organizations, healthcare providers, and City Hall.

When we work together, we build stronger, safer neighborhoods.

As Your Councilmember, I Will Advocate For:

Supporting Our Police and Fire Departments

- Maintaining adequately staffed Police and Fire Departments to meet the needs of our growing community.
- Ensuring first responders have the equipment, training, technology, and facilities necessary to perform their jobs safely and effectively.
- Supporting recruitment and retention efforts to attract and retain highly qualified public safety professionals.
- Recognizing and supporting the physical and mental wellness of our first responders.

Crime Prevention & Neighborhood Safety

- Strengthening community policing and neighborhood partnerships.
- Expanding crime prevention and neighborhood watch programs.
- Supporting proactive strategies that reduce crime before it occurs.

- Encouraging greater collaboration between residents, businesses, schools, and law enforcement.
- Utilizing technology responsibly to improve public safety while respecting individual privacy.
- Improving street lighting, visibility, and environmental design in areas where safety concerns exist.

Emergency Preparedness

- Improving emergency preparedness for natural disasters, major emergencies, and public safety incidents.
- Expanding public education regarding disaster preparedness.
- Strengthening coordination between City departments, schools, healthcare providers, and emergency responders.
- Supporting community emergency response training opportunities for residents.

Building Community Trust

- Encouraging open communication between residents and public safety professionals.
- Supporting transparency and accountability within City government.
- Creating additional opportunities for community engagement with our Police and Fire Departments.
- Building trust through collaboration, communication, and mutual respect.

Addressing Homelessness

"Compassion and accountability are not opposing values—they are complementary responsibilities."

Homelessness is one of the most complex challenges facing communities throughout California, including West Covina.

There are no easy solutions.

People experiencing homelessness often face a combination of challenges including mental illness, substance use disorders, financial hardship, domestic violence, family crises, job loss, and physical health concerns.

Every individual's story is different.

That is why lasting solutions require thoughtful leadership rather than political slogans.

Ignoring homelessness is not compassion.

Simply spending more money without measurable results is not leadership.

West Covina deserves an approach that is both compassionate toward individuals experiencing homelessness and accountable to the residents, businesses, and neighborhoods affected by the issue.

We can care deeply about people while also protecting the quality of life in our community.

Those two goals are not mutually exclusive.

They must go hand in hand.

As Your Councilmember, I Will Work To:

Strengthen Regional Partnerships

- Collaborate with Los Angeles County, neighboring cities, nonprofit organizations, and service providers.
- Strengthen partnerships with mental health professionals, healthcare providers, and outreach organizations.
- Pursue regional solutions recognizing that homelessness extends beyond city boundaries.

Improve Access to Services

- Support efforts that connect individuals experiencing homelessness with available housing resources, mental health treatment, substance abuse recovery programs, employment assistance, and other supportive services.
- Encourage coordinated outreach that focuses on long-term stability rather than temporary solutions.
- Promote programs that help individuals transition toward self-sufficiency whenever possible.

Protect Our Neighborhoods

- Keep parks, sidewalks, trails, and public spaces safe, clean, and accessible for everyone.
- Support enforcement of laws that protect public health and safety while respecting the dignity of every individual.
- Work with businesses and residents to address neighborhood concerns in a timely and respectful manner.
- Ensure public spaces remain welcoming for families, seniors, and visitors.

Focus on Results

- Support evidence-based strategies that have demonstrated success in other communities.

- Establish measurable goals and regularly evaluate program outcomes.
 - Encourage transparency regarding how public funds are used and what results are being achieved.
 - Continuously review and improve programs based on data and community feedback.

My Commitment

Every resident deserves to feel safe.

Every business deserves the opportunity to succeed.

Every child deserves clean parks and safe neighborhoods.

Every individual experiencing homelessness deserves to be treated with dignity and given the opportunity to receive appropriate assistance.

I reject the false choice between compassion and accountability.

We can—and must—pursue both.

By working collaboratively with residents, first responders, service providers, community organizations, and regional partners, we can improve public safety, strengthen our neighborhoods, and develop thoughtful, long-term solutions that benefit our entire community.

Safe neighborhoods are not created by chance. They are built through preparation, partnership, and leadership.

Looking Ahead

A safe city gives families the confidence to invest in their community.

It allows businesses to grow.

It encourages recreation in our parks.

It strengthens neighborhoods.

It improves quality of life for everyone.

As we continue building a stronger West Covina, we must also invest in the physical foundation of our community—our roads, sidewalks, parks, trees, public facilities, and neighborhood services.

That begins with our next priority:

Building Infrastructure That Reflects Our Pride.
